Filming in a Studio

Working in a studio environment comes with a host of benefits. Possibly the biggest of these are time savings, consistency, control, & of course the set-up possibilities. Media Services is proud to offer our clients access to our very own studio. Whether you need to film, record audio, or even present to an audience, our studio can be your solution.

Lighting

The key to filming has always been good lighting. That is why we have professional ceiling-mounted lighting bars as well as a host of stand-mounted options to insure we have the right light for any job. This allows us to light for anything from presentations to photo shoots.

Green Screen

Looking to introduce some variety into your videos? Look no further. With a green screen you can turn a single space into a hundred. With ample space and lighting, our green screen is able to meet any need. We also offer additional backdrops and canvas backgrounds should you decide you want a more simple background.

Audio Booth

Need a personalized voice-over for your project? Our studio is equipped with professional microphones and sound-proofing to ensure the highest quality recording without all the noise.

Prep Space

Some projects require space for additional gear, props, decorations, products, and more. Fortunately we have a space set aside to accommodate these items without being in the way of the film space or equipment. This will ensure that the studio set is clear of clutter and affords these additional items a safe and accessible area.
